
RMP Requirements

The goal of a Risk Management Program is to prevent serious chemical accidents that could cause harm to the public and the environment and to reduce the potential impact of accidental releases.

If you are regulated under the Risk Management Program, you must submit your Risk Management Plan (RMP), which describes your Risk Management Program. EPA has developed an electronic submission system (RMP*Submit™) that will make filing the RMP easy. The software will be available on diskette, CD-ROM, or via EPA's Internet website.

Portions of the RMP you submit to EPA will be publicly available via the Internet. The information is intended to stimulate the dialogue between industry, state and local officials, and the public to improve accident prevention and emergency response practices.

RMP*Submit:

- ◆ Helps you avoid common reporting errors by verifying you have completed all required data elements;
- ◆ Allows you to correct errors before submitting your RMP; and
- ◆ Accepts limited graphics and provides on-line help.

How Do I Order RMP*Submit?

RMP*Submit will be available in January 1999. RMP*Submit is available free-of-charge through the National Center for Environmental Publications and Information (NCEPI) at:
